Preface to the Fifth Edition.

In bringing out the Fifth Edition of this book I beg to convey my heartfelt thanks to the members of the Bench and the Bar.

In this Edition also the book has been thoroughly revised and materially improved and has been enlarged by about 500 pages composed of solid matter but its price has been increased by As. 8 only while the small types, solid compose and rigorous compression and the singularity of volume and index of the book have retained the portability and facility of reference which are its special features.

Case-law from all the Reports, including I. C. and A. I. R., up to the very end of 1929, have been fully incorporated and the recent amendments in the B. T. Act and T. P. Act have been carefully considered.

Successive editions of this book within a short period have prompted some persons to make attempts to publish digests on similar lines but as the most intelligent class of people like those of the legal branch are not to be duped by mere alluring advertisements, their books have not seen Second Editions and even the reduction of the price to half in one case and the declaration that the book (which was printed three years back) contains cases up to the "present day" have proved to be futile.

Any intimation as to any error detected in this book will be very thankfully received.

(1) Account Books, entries in.

——every entry in account book must be proved. 13 C. L. J. 139, 15 C. L. J. 621.

——entries should not be made from day to day or from hour to hour to make them admissible under sec. 34 Evi. Act 4 C. W. N. 147: 27 C. 118 P. C. 4 B. 576, overruled, 25 B. 616, the time when the entries are made would affect their credibility and not their admissibility. 25 B 616 p. 624.

——entries in books of account are not admissible not only for refreshing witness's memory, but also as corroborative evidence. 6 C. W. N. 401 · 29 C. 334: 29 I. A 43 P.C.

——books of account recording a particular transaction are less reliable than books containing miscellaneous matters. 6 C. W. N. 401: 29 C. 334: 29 I. A. 43 P.C.

——an account book is not by itself relevant to raise an inference from the absence of any entry. 10 C. 1024, 7 C. L. R. 356, 30 C. 231, P. C., contra 19 C W. N. 611 below.

Account Books, entries in—contd.

——absence of entry is relevant, not under sec. 34 but under secs 9 and 11 Evi. Act. 19 C. W N. 611.

——when the creditor of a minor brings a suit against him and relies merely on entries in the account books to show items of consideration, the evidence is not sufficient, as he is bound to prove by independent and reliable evidence the purposes for the loan. 78 I C. 380: 1924 Nag. 360

(2) Account adjusted, settled or stated.

——balancing of an account is not account stated or adjusted much less an account settled. 15 C. L. J. 204: 16 C. W N. 299 13 I C. 23, 32 C. 719: 1 C L. J 232, 13 C. L J 165, 17 A L J. 805, 52 I. C 805

——the requisites for making an account a settled account depend on the circumstances of each case and the mode of dealing between the parties. 12 C. W. N. 28: 6 C. L. J. 580.

——an account stated does not establish the original bebts on which the account is based. It is open to the creditor to sue according to the account stated or on the original contract 63 I. C. 280

——fresh cause of action runs from the date of adjustment. 15 C. W N. 882

——an account stated is itself an agreement which can be sued on. 86 I. C. 834: 1925 A. 295: L R 6 A. 128

——suit for specific sums of money is not account suit merely because account is to be examined. 27 C L. J 96, 21 C. W N. 591: 25 C. L. J. 335 · 40 I. C. 359, 883, 43 I C. 755: 4 P L. W. 70, 14 I. C. 786 8 N. L R 36

——but when a suit for recovery of certain sum of money on the allegation that upon settlement of accounts the amount would be found due from the deft. was instituted in Court of Small Causes, held that it was a suit for account within Art 31 of the said Act and as such was beyond its jurisdiction, 24 C. C. J. 187: 10 I C 883.

——an action for the balance of settled account would not be restrained merely because there were other unsettled accounts between the parties 43 C 733: 22 C. L. J. 339: 21 C. W N 632 · 31 I. C 430, or because the agent continues to hold office 25 C L J. 335. 21 C. W. N. 591 40 I C 359

——a suit for a sum of money due upon account stated between the parties and for money lent can be based on a mere acknowledgment. 40 I. C. 58 (A), 3 A. L. J. 800 fol, 23 A. 502 not fol.

——the defendant is not absol[illegible]

——a suit for administration and account is in essence a suit for account and excess court-fee must be paid before execution 22 C. W. N. 115.

ACCRETION.

Sub-headings of notes.

(1) Accretion, general.
(2) Accretion, to mortgaged property.
(3) Adverse possession in accreted land.
(4) Reformation in situ.

(1) Accretion, general

——tenant encroaches upon the land of others for the benefit of the landlord 10 C 820. 35 M. 618, 22 W. R. 246.

——an occupancy raiyat acquires the same right in accreted land 21 C 233 F. B but not so if he is an yearly raiyat of ckur or dearah land 33 C. 444

——when the terms of the kabulyat were "I shall not be entitled to keep in my possession any land which is in excess of land settled without fresh settlement from you (landlord)" and the tenant did not apply for fresh settlement, held that he was not entitled to retain

Accretion, general—contd

possession of lands which might be accretion to the tenancy. 31 C. W. N. 750 · 101 I. C 547 1927 Cal. 565

——a suit for assessment of rent of the encroached portion only is not suit under sec 52 and sec 188 B T. Act, does not apply. 4 C W N. 508, 14 C 201, 233, 15 C 47.

——gradual accretion enures to the land which attracts it 3 C W N. 777 P. C 26 I A 107

——but a tenant who has encroached upon land belonging to a stranger contiguous to the landlord's land in his occupation, is not liable to pay rent to the landlord even though he had agreed to pay rent for the land actually in his occupation, 105 I. C 737 : 1928 cal 142, but the Punjab H C. has held that the presumption in such cases is that such encroachment enures to the benefit of the landlord unless the presumption is rebutted by proof that at the time of encroachment the tenant intended it for his own exclusive benefit. 107 I. C. 356 1928 Lah 351.

——the principle of English law is that an accretion must be formed by gradual slow and imperceptible degrees The words 'slow' and "imperceptible' are only qualifications of the word gradual and the test laid down is relative to the conditions to which it is applied The actual rate of progress necessary to satisfy the rule when used in connection with English rivers is not necessarily the same when applied to the rivers of India on account of the different conditions in India and in England. 45 M 207 ; 26 C. W. N. 348 35 C L. J 463 67 I C 1 P C ——an occupancy raiyat can claim accretion. 13 C W. N. 269: 8 C. L. J. 537, 4 C. L. J 63 : 38 C 444, 14 C W N 681.

——a non-occupancy raiyat can claim benefit of sec. 4 of Reg. XI of 1825 and is entitled to claim accretion 13 C. W N. 269.

——occupancy rights in an alluvial accretion to a non-occupancy holding airse only by 12 years' continuous cultivation of that accretion 29 I. C. 37

——an auction-puchaser at revenue sale is entitled to accretion by alluvion 8 C W N. 676

——accretion in non-tidal and non-navigable rivers in India belong to the riparian landlords It is part of the Common Law of India that the ownership of river beds is presumed to vest in the riparian owners. 55 I. C 770 (M).

——where the lands emerge from a bhil the possession of the owner is presumed to continue, until the contray is shown, when such lands remain patit or waste, whether it be culturable or unculturable. 24 C. 256 : 1 C W. N. 304. (9 C. 744, 19 C. 660) ref.

——the bed of pubic navigable river is the property of the Govt. if there be slow accretion on either side by private owners it is their accretion. If private property is submerged and again left bare it belongs to original owner. 26 C. L. J. 590 20 Bom. L. R. 49 : 22 M. L. T. 438 : 43 I. C 361 P. C., 25 C. L. J. 69 : 20 C. W. ——land accreted to rent-free holding is liable for rent 18 C W. N. 1206. 19 C. L. J. 595

——with respect to accreted land the landlord can treat him as tenant or as trespasser. 16 C. W N 634, 2 C. L J 125, 25 C 302 But after treating him as tenant the landlord cannot change position. 4 C. W. N. 508. 13 C W. N. 635

(2) Accretion to mortgaged property.

——a mortgagor's right to the accession under S. 63 T P. Act does depend upon whether the mortgagee had any special advantage by reason of his position as mortgagee in making the acquisition Every acquisition by mortgagee of the sub-tenure does not enure to the benefit of the mortgagor, 17 C. W N 586, 5 C. 198 5 C L R. 213 P. C. Ref

——in the case of jote also the benefit of mortgagee enures to the benefit of the mortgagor 6 C W N. 372

——upon redemption a mortgagor is entitled to take over the accession to the mortgaged property on payment of the cost of the acquisition. The mortgagor is not obliged to take them. 42 I. C. 468 : 163 P. W. R. 1917.

——ss 63 and 70 must be read together and the accession must be received during the continuance of mortgage. Accessions after the decree for sale does not pass to the auction-purchaser but belongs to the mortgagor as the mortgage interest had ceased to exist at the time of accession. 70 I C. 367: 41 M. L. J. 490: 1921 M. W N. 510

——question considered whether the accretion to mortgaged shares by the issue of fresh capital can be treated as belonging to the corpus. 46 B. 529.

——where one of several mortgagees acquires tenancies while in possession and claims the cost of such acquisition upon redemption, no merger under S. 63 T. P. Act takes place. 56 I. C. 193.

Accretion to mortgaged property—contd.

——when a mortgagee of a plot of land plants trees on the same, the trees are to be considered as an accession. But as they are capable of separate possession or enjoyment without detriment to the principal property, e g, by being cut down and removed, the mortgagor cannot get them unless he pays for it. 86 I. C. 929: 1925 All 748, 85 I. C 690 1925 All 794. But see below.

——a grove of mango trees planted by the mortgagee is an accession within sec. 63, T. P. Act and on redemption the mortgagor is entitled to it without paying any compensation when they were planted without his consent and the mortgagee cannot claim them after cutting since the land would not be restored to its former condition. 88 I C. 908. 23 A L J. 915 1926 A 67.

——tenancy lands are accessions when the tenant is ejected by the mortgagee and become the property of the mortgagor after redemption, provided he pays to the mortgagee the expenses of acquiring them. 78 I C 466 1925 Pat. 336.

(3) Adverse possession in accreted land.

(1) Nature and proof of benami transaction.

(Onus and proof)

——the very object of all benami transactions is secrecy: but still the person who alleges that property conveyed to another belongs to himself must prove his allegation and prove it beyond reasonable doubt 31 C W N. 252. 38 M. L. T 70. 96 I. C. 142 : 24 A. L. J 758 : 1926 P C 77.

——direct evidence cannot be expected as the whole object is to suppress real fact, true fact can be proved by circumstantial evidence. 24 I C 277. 18 C. W. N. 1071.

——to determine the ownership the main criterion is the source whence the consideration money was paid 19 C W N. 1207 P. C.; 22 C W. N. 522 P. C.; 105 I. C. 191

——in case of benami the most important test to be applied is the source from which the consideration came 27 C. W. N. 305, and the possession of the property. 62 I C 1002.

S. 3 (Definition).

See the cases in the B. T. Act. under the terms "tenure", "permanent tenure." "holding", "tenant" and "rent".

——where a portion of land that was covered with water and unfit for cultivation, was not divided, but left joint during batwara proceedings, its revenue payable on the entire estate having been apportioned among the several divided estates, in a suit, brought after such land had become dry and cultivable by a cosharer for partition of it, under Bengal Act VIII of 1876, held that the Collector was not bound to make the partition under that Act, as the land in suit was not liable for the payment of one and the same demand of land revenue and therefore not a joint undivided estate within the terms of sec. 4 Cl. (9) of this Act 10 C 435, 7 C. 153 approved, 24 C 725 F B Dist

((XV) Assets)

——a co-proprietor who purchases a raiyati holding in an undivided estate must be held to have purchased it on behalf of the general body of maliks He has right of possession as against the remaining co-proprietors on condition that he pays to them as compensation an amount equal to the rent formerly paid by the raiyat But the money paid is not rent When the estate comes under partition the holding must be included in the bakasht list and its valuation as an asset must be determined as provided by S. 3 XV (b) end not by s 3 XV. ——for the purposes of a raibandi record, the rental value of any land classified as bakasht malik must be valued in accordance with the definition of assets given in the Act and in no other way; the lagan paid by a proprietor to his fellow-proprietors should not enter into the calculation at all 3 Pat L R. 182 (Rev)

S. 4. (who is entitled to claim partition)

——mere joint possession is not a sufficient basis for entitling a person to have the land partitioned my metes and bounds. In order that persons may be co parceners, and so have a right to partition, it seems, that not only must they be in joint possession of the [illegible] same title. S. 4. Who is entitled to claim partition—contd.

——it cannot be laid down as a general proposition of law that there can be no partition between parties, the interest of one being subordinate to that of the other The court must in each case determine whether, having regard to the nature of this interest owned by parties and to all other circumstances the balance of convenience is in favour of allowing partition. The mere fact of the parties owning interests which are not co-ordinate in degree, ought not to be a bar to partition So a suit by the proprietor of 16 annas Zemindari against putnidars under 6 annas of the Zemindari to have his 10 annas share of the lands divided by metes and bounds would lie. 24 C 575, 1 C W. N. 406 F. B. 20 C 379 Diss.

S 5. (Partition according to interest)

——the interest of a joint proprietor of an estate may consist of specific parcels of land and may therefore bear no proportion to the Revenue assessed on it originally. A co-sharer who is in possession of certain villages, is entitled to have those villages assigned to him under sub sec (2) of this section though by the increase of value, their assets would be out of proportion to their revenue The words 'his interest in all the land and undivided share held by him" in sub sectn (4) mean the sum of his interest in the lands and share of estate and not interest proportionate to his liabilities forming part of the parent estate, but no interest extending over the whole estate, in other words, it applies to proprietors who have an interest in some out of the total number of villages constituting the estate If he has a share in the remainder also, then it follows that he has a fractional interest in the entire estate as well as a fractional interest in a part, the latter fractional interest being the difference between the larger and the smaller interest that is to say, if he has a half share in twenty mouzas and a one-sixth share in fiftyfour mouzas, it must be held that he has a one-sixth share in the entire estate and in the twenty mouzas a fractional interest represented by the difference of one-half and one-sixth. 87 I C 274 : 2 Pat. 403, 1924 Pat. 187.

——a proprietor of a mahal composed of several mouzas having fractional interest in each is not entitled to claim allotment in each ... mouza as that would ... where there are many ... rent fractional inte.

S. 5. Partition according to interest—contd.

——in a permanently settled district there is nothing in law to justify a claim made on the basis of the proportionte distribution of tenants. The landlord has no special claims on the perosnal services of his tenants The liability of the tenants begins and ends with the payment of rent. 3 Pat. L. R 196 (Rev.)

——one of the co-sharers of a joint estate suing conjointly with the others would under Reg XIV of 1814 be entitled to a separation of a mouzah from the rest of the zemindari and an assessment upon it of a proportionate jama, and having done so he would alone be entitled to have an order for partition of that mouzah as between himself and his co-sharers therein. If the zemindari which the plaintiff seeks to have divided is so intermixed with the nighbouring zemindaris that the line of boundary cannot be reasonably identified, he cannot call upon the Collector to make a new line But if the Collector has the means of ascertaining where the boundary lies, he is bound to carry out a partition. 21 W. R. 225.

S. 7 (Partition where partition has been made by private arrangement.)

——section 7 of the E P Act evidently contemplates a formal division of the lands of an estate by metes and bounds, agreed to by all the co-owners, and a possession of separate lands held in severalty by each such co-owner The Collector, therefore, is not precluded by that section from making a partition where there was not such a partition of the estate already subsisting Where the lands have been partitioned in such manner and such division is subsisting at the time of the application to the Collector, inspite of any further sub-division of the parcels, no partition of the estate can be made under the Act except on the joint application of all proprietors or in pursuance of a decree or order of a Civil Court, and this too, even in the case where after such private division each of the separate parcels becomes or some of them become, by reason of transfer or succession or otherwise, jointly vested in more proprietors than one. 11 C. ——unless it can be proved that the person against whom a thak or survey map is attempted to be used expressly consented to the delineation or admitted the correctness of such map, it has not the binding effect. 3 C. W. N. 99.

——to say that a map has no binding effect is quite a different thing from saying that it is not evidence. As the object of a thakbust survey and map is to ascertain and delineate the boundaries of the estate borne on the Revenue Roll of the District, the entry in a thak map that certain lands formed part of an estate becomes a relevant fact under section 36 of the Evidence Act and it is open to a Court to presume that the same state of things existed at the time of the Permanent Settlement. 7 C W. N. 849.

——maps and surveys made in India for revenue purposes, are official documents prepared by competent persons and with such publicity and notice to persons interested as to be admissible and valuable evidence of the state of things at the time they were made. ——but it has been recently held that it can be presumed as a matter of law that the state of things described in the Thak and Survey maps existed at the time of the Permanent Settlement. The question what lands were included in the Permanent Settlement is a question of fact and not of law which may or may not be satisfactorily proved by subsequent survey maps The onus of proving that any particular land were included in the Permanent Settlement of 1793 is on those who affirm that such was the case, and the burden of proof is not necessarily shifted by the production of the Thak and Survey maps showing that specified lands are included in a particular estate. The Thak and Survey maps are valuable evidence of the state of things at the time they were made, [illegible] conclusively what was the [illegible] Permanent Settlement. 34 C. L. J. 141.

The Civil Court has jurisdiction to try suits of this description, not merely because it involves a question of right or title, but also because the question is one of the extent of interest. The jurisdiction of the Civil Court in matters of partition of a revenue-paying estate is restricted only to questions affecting the public revenue. 2 C L J 351.

CALCUTTA RENT ACT (III of 1920.)

Applicability.

——where a lease comprised properties in Calcutta as well as outside Calcutta and the rent Controller refused to fix a standard rent for the Calcutta property on the ground of want of jurisdiction, held that the order was wrong as it was evident there was no intention on the part of the lessor to put the tenant in possession of the property outside Calcutta but it was included in the lease solely with the object of evading the Rent Act. 30 C. S. 2. (f) (ii) and 15.

——standard rent means rent for which the premises were originally let. Consequently if a tenant subjets a portion of the premises, the standard rent of the portion so sublet is to be determined according to s 15 and not under this sec. 27 C. W. N. 569: 1923 Cal. 553, 37 C. L J 101.

——a landlord who has premises sufficient for his requirements should not be allowed to eject tenants because he chooses for his own convenience or profit to deprive himself of the use of the premises which he is occupying, and then to say to his other tenants "having deprived myself of the use of the premises which I have hitherto occupied, I therefore require the house in which you live for my own occupation and I now propose to eject you" It is not enough that a plff. in order to defeat a plea under this Act should merely say that he desires the premises bona fide for his own occupation. The word in this Act is not "desire" but "require", this involves something more than a mere wish and involves an element of need, to some extent at least. 26 C. W. N 699.

——where in suit in ejectment the benefit of the Rent Act is claimed the deft must show that he has paid arrears within three months of the Rent Act coming into force and subsequently paid his rent regularly. 28 C. W N 678. 70 I. C 494 1923 Cal 227.

——the legislature in enumerating in the proviso to this sec the grounds upon which a landlord can successfully claim an order for possession did not intend to limit the claim to those grounds but merely enumerated those grounds for the purpose of indicating the grounds upon which a landlord would be entitled to possession as of right, leaving it open to the court to exercise a discretion in his favour upon any other ground which might apper to the court to be satisfactory. 25 C W. S. 15

——It is suggested by the language of the second part of the proviso to sec 15 that where rent has not been increased since 1st day of November 1913, as in the present case, the rent must be unduly low, but whether suggestion is well founded in any particular case is purely a question of fact The rent at which premises were let on 1st November 1918 cannot be treated as "unduly low" merely on the ground that the premises would have been let at a higher rent on that date if the repairs of the premises had not been previously neglected. 28 C W. N 467 1924 Cal 629

——sub-sec (3) is ungrammatical, the first limb of the sentence should read "where by reason of any premises having been let-in-parts any difficulty arises in giving effect to this Act" where the premises are first let as a whole, the Controller has Jurisdiction to determine whether there is any difficulty to fix the standard rent under Cl. 3 (a), 1928 P C 227

——where a woman of the town applied to the Rent controller under this sec. for standardisation of the rent of the premises occupied by her and it was dismissed on the ground that she had no locus standi, while the opposite party raised no such objection, held that under the circumstances of the case the Rent Controller should have entertained the application ; held also that an application in revision against the order of the Rent Controller under this sec. lies in the appellate side of the H. ——the natural and obvious meaning of the words in a deed cannot be refused to be given to them merely because it is suggested that the words have been inserted in the deed for the purpose of ascertaining and specifying the stamp duty in which case it should be specially stated 38 C. L. J. 21 75 I. C. 492.

——if apt words are not used and if reservations are not made then it does not lie in the mouth of the grantor to contend that the grant is not so extensive as on an ordinary interpretation of the words it would seem to be so. 1923 Cal. 335.

——a document should, if possible, be construed in a manner giving effect to all the directions in it. 111 I. C. 22 · 1928 Mad. 349.

When more than one interpretation is possible.

——where more than one interpretation of a deed is possible, it is proper and necessary to look to the statute by which the form and purposes of the instrument are prescribed to fix upon that construction which is consistent with the state 33 M. L. T 438 P. C.

——if it is possible to construe a document in two different ways the court may accept the construction which makes the document valid in law 55 C. 448 · 32 C. W. N 248 : 105 I. C. 647 ; 1928 Cal. 130.

Construction by another document.

(4) (L) Performance of Contract—contd.

Impossible to perform s. 56.

——mere difficulty in the performance of a contract or the need to pay exorbitant prices in order to perform it does not amount to impossibility within s 56 Contract Act. 62 I. C. 815.

——impossibility includes physical or legal impossibility but not economic unprofitableness 63 I. C. 267.

——where goods could not be delivered owing to the Govt. having requisitioned all the ships available, the contract became impossible of performance and there was no liability for damages 105 I. C. 319.

——a contract may be cancelled for subsequent impossibility to perform in part 7 C. 474 : 8 C L R. 501.

——in a suit for damages for breach of contract against a Hindu father to give his minor daughter in marriage, performance of the contract does not become impossible simply because the girl declares her unwillingness to marry. 21 B. 23

——the real question that must be considered when it has to be determined whether s 56 is applicable or not in any suit except where the contract is sought to be specifically enforced, is not whether the contract was or became void but whether the promisor has to make compensation for nonperformance. 105 I. C. 319.

Pressure of work or avoidable accident.

——when a carrier receives goods under a contract of carriage he cannot shake off his statutory liability under s. 151, Contract Act by pleading pressure of work or avoidable accidents 1925 Cal. 737 : 85 I C. 786

Assignment of contractual right.

——the interest of a buyer of goods in a contract for forward delivery is an actionable claim within the meaning of the Tr. P. Act and can be assigned as such. 34 C. 289, 9 Bom. L. R. 839.

——when a contract is based upon personal consideration it cannot be assigned without the consent of other party. 17 M. 166. So also an executory contract for the future delivery of goods cannot be assigned. 16 B. 441. 5 Bom. L. R. 373.

——but contract containing certain buyer's option as to quality does not preclude the assignment of contract. 34 C. 289.

When performance can be enforced and when not.

——a vendor may enforce his right under a contract not to castrate the calf sold. 24 I. C 81.

——to enable a party to be relieved from the future performance of a contract by the conduct of the other, the conduct must amount to renunciation or absolute refusal to perform the contract such as would amount to rescission if he had the power to rescind. 83 I. C. 260 : 1924 Cal. 427.

——a contract for sale for the consideration that the purchaser would hush up a departmental enquiry cannot be specifically enforced on equitable grounds though not illegal. 18 C. W. N. 649.

DISTINCTION BETWEEN.

(1) Irregularity and nullity.

——an irregularity is a deviation from a rule of law which does not take away the foundation or authority for proceeding : whereas a nullity is a proceeding that is taken without any foundation or is so essentially defective as to be of no avail. Waiver is one test. If the party can waive, it amounts to irregularity, if not, it is nullity. A provision based on public policy cannot be waived but if it is for the benefit of individual it can be waived 27 C. W. N. 765 · 37 C L. J. 447.

——it is an elementary principle of law that if a court has no jurisdiction over the subject matter its judgments and orders are mere nullities and may not only be set aside at any time by the court in which they are rendered but declared void by every Court in which they are produced 27 C. W. N. 542 : 1923 Cal. 619, 38 C. 639, 9 A. 191, 11 M. 26 Ref.

(2) Mandatory or imperative and directory.

——a decree against a minor representing him as major is a nullity. 1921 Pat 100

——the principle to be applied in considering whether the provisions of a Statute or an Act are imperative or directory is this The court must look to the subject matter, consider the importance of the provision that has been disregarded and the relation of that provision to the general object intended to be secured by the Act; and upon a review of the case in that aspect decide whether the matter is what is called imperative or only directory 38 C. L. J. 77 F. B.

(3) Void and voidable
